The 3-5-year-old children enjoyed the party in the small pool. Winners of the races were: paddleboard race, 6-8 years old — first, David Jolly; second, Rose Baggot; third, Monica Wadlaw. Age 9-10, Debbie Griffin, Terri Polson and Ken Jolly. Age 11-12, Connie Hein, Carla Foote and Richard Becherer. Inner tube race winners: 6-8, David Jolly, Kathleen Becherer and Scott Buenger; 9-10, Ken Jolly and Debbie Griffin tied; and Bob Conraux; 11-12, Connie Sudholt, Mike Morris and Jerome Rapac. Winners of three-legged swimming races were: 6-8, Kelly Cook and Christina Clay; Dave Duffin and Scott Polson; and Gina Delevski and Betty Lybarger; 9-10, Jeanne Fuller and Nannette Rapac; Robert Conraux and Ken Jolly; and Mike Yench and Bill Metcalf; 11-12, Connie Sudholt and Betty Hoff, Connie Hines and Jay Rose, and Ed Detwiler and Ron Carich. Mrs. Jo Ann Conraux was chairman of food preparation and directed the serving of supper, which included sloppy joe sandwiches, potato chips, drink and cupcakes donated by members of the Swimming Team Mothers' club.

New Catalytic Process May Remove 85% Of Sulfur Oxides from the Burning of Coal

The anti-pollution demonstration unit proposed by Illinois Power Co., disclosed in the July 13 Press-Record, draws "smoke" from coal burning generation plants through a catalytic system to remove sulfur oxides, one of the products of combustion of coal or oil.

The Monsanto Enviro-Chem-Cat-Ox method to be utilized removes the sulfur oxides and recovers them as marketable sulfuric acid.

A prototype plant has been in operation at a generating station of the Metropolitan Edison Co., Portland, Pa., for more than two years.

Illinois Power has filed the proposal with the Illinois Commerce Commission. The plan involves removing sulfur oxides and particulates from power plant stack emissions at IP's Wood River power station.

$3 Million Investment
IP would share the cost of the demonstration and its nonoperation with the National Air Pollution Control Administration, an agency of the federal government. Of the $3,000,000 cost, IP's share would be $3,300,000.

Illinois Power President Wendell J. Kelley views the project as an "investment in the future." His firm provides electricity and natural gas to a 15,000-square-mile area of Illinois; there are more than 400,000 electric customers. The company has five major electric generating stations, including a new 600,000-kilowatt unit near Baldwin in southern Illinois.

IP proposes to subcontract the installation of the Cat-Ox system to Monsanto Enviro-Chem Systems, Inc., Chicago, a subsidiary of the Monsanto Co.

Years of Research
Leo J. Weaver, president of Monsanto Enviro-Chem, has expressed confidence that Cat-Ox, after years of research, can answer the sulfur oxide removal problem.

The effectiveness of the system has been proved at the Portland installation," Weaver said.

A. Shultz, senior vice-president of Illinois Power, who is in charge of the project, said the company, in cooperation with NAEPCA, will install the system of IP's 100,000-kw No. 4 generation unit at the Wood River plant. There are five generators at the plant.

An electrostatic precipitator, to remove flyash, is being installed on the largest unit, No. 5, at the plant under previously announced IP plans to alleviate air pollution arising from the generation of electricity.

Also Removes Flyash
The Cat-Ox system to be put on No. 4 includes an electrostatic precipitator which removes flyash, as well as the process to extract sulfur oxides from the stack gases.

Shultz said the decision to demonstrate the Cat-Ox method came after years of research and examination of various plants in the atmosphere of sulfur fumes.

At present, IP is engaged in a multi-million dollar program to do its share in cleaning the air around its five generation stations through available technology, such as electrostatic precipitators, burning of low-sulfur fuels and other environmental protection processes.

Kelley stressed the importance of coal as a fuel for the production of electrical energy in coal-rich Illinois, but he added that there must be an accommodation with the present and future public demand for environmental quality.

Power, Health, Price Factors
"First is the steadily increasing demand for low-cost electrical energy in our modern society and economy."

"Second is the right of people to breathe clean air."

"Third is the fact that here in Illinois, as in many other areas, the present logical and economical way to produce electricity is to burn a fuel we have in abundance, namely coal."

"The Wood River demonstration will be the first installation in the world of this new process in a generation unit of commercial capacity. We selected this method after years of examination of various theories and alternative methods of removal."

"We hope it will prove that the sulfur oxides can be removed in large part from the exhaust of major power plants. This demonstration, which will bring Illinois Power's involvement in air pollution control to more than $20 million, is actually an investment in the future."

"Electrostatic precipitators to extract flyash, the use of low-sulfur fuels when available and economic clean-up of the existing of power plants away from congested areas are all realities today."

Breakthrough
"Addition of the Cat-Ox system to remove sulfur oxides can be a major breakthrough in the total problem."

"We expect to have the system in operation in about two years."

"Illinois is a coal-producing state. Coal is a strong factor in

New Interdisciplinary Project at University

Applicants are being sought for a new interdisciplinary teacher education project (ITEP) planned at SIU-SW for the fall quarter. The program will focus on education of elementary and secondary teachers.

The emphasis will be on the teacher as a participant in the community, an influence on the learning environment, an actor in organizational development, and one source of public and common knowledge.

Thirteen faculty members from different disciplines within the Education Division have collaborated in development of the ITEP program, and will instruct and serve as advisors for the enrollees.

Major difference in the ITEP approach and the conventional teacher preparation programs is that instructors from different fields will work closely together in the presentation of classroom materials throughout the year. In addition, an attempt will be made to bridge the gap between university course work and professional experience in the schools.

Students with 64 quarter hours credit who have not started in the professional sequence may contact student services of the Education Division, Shirley Novitskie in elementary education or Jerry Gibson in secondary education in the General Offices Building, Room 2228.

the economic welfare of the state. Here, in this state, it is still the most economical fuel we have to produce low-cost electricity.

"We do not believe that concern for the environment is a passing public fancy. That is why we have embarked on the Wood River demonstration."

Useful Byproduct
Weaver said that while removing most of the sulfur oxides from the stack gas, the Cat-Ox system will produce sulfuric acid that meets marketing requirements.

The system which will be installed at Wood River No. 4 will convert the sulfur dioxide in the flue gas to sulfur trioxide by use of a vanadium pentoxide catalyst.

Sulfuric acid is then formed by combining the sulfur trioxide with water in the flue gas and condensing the acid in an absorbing tower. This acid is then collected for sale.

Any sulfuric acid not retained in the gas is removed in a highly efficient Enviro-Chem Brink mist eliminator. Gas leaving the unit through the stack will be completely free of flyash and will have 85% of the sulfur oxides removed, Weaver said.

Police Question Boys
Three youths about 11 years old were questioned by Madison authorities last week after they were picked up on charges of molesting an eight-year-old girl in a laundromat in the 400 block of Madison avenue. Officers said the girl had gone into the laundry to get a bottle of soda and was accosted by the boys. Police apprehended the youths in the neighborhood of the laundry.

Karaganis Appointed to Environmental Duties

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott announced Friday that he has appointed Joseph Karaganis, a prominent Chicago lawyer and chairman of the "Earth Force," a new anti-pollution coalition, as a full-time special assistant attorney general for environmental qualities.

One of Karaganis' major responsibilities will be to set up and direct the attorney general's legal staff which will be assigned to the three agencies created under the state's new Environmental Control Act, Scott explained.

Much Shoplifting in Area, Parents Face Fines of $50

By VALERIE EVENDEN

It seems that some parents don't care if their teenage son or daughter is stealing, until the youngster is caught and they are confronted with a $50 fine," the manager of a local department store said this week.

Melvin L. Gillie of the W. T. Grant store in the Nameoki Village shopping center said that in the past six months 82 shoplifters have been apprehended in the local store. Most of these caught are between the ages of 12 and 18, and girls outnumber the males almost two to one.

Since a new city ordinance was enacted in Granite City last spring, specifically covering the shoplifter, Grant's management has taken an even firmer stand than before on the issue.

Theft Volume Substantial

Sneak thieves add billions of dollars each year to the cost of purchases by all consumers—affecting every man, woman and child.

Inventory reduction by theft at Grant's store alone runs into $100,000 annually.

The new ordinance provides a $50 fine for shoplifting. Previously, a shoplifting offense was covered under a theft charge, which proved difficult to prosecute in some instances, and time-consuming to an extreme degree.

Among the 82 shoplifters caught at Grant's in the past six months, 54 were female and 28 male. Sixty-six teenagers and six persons over the age of 18 were apprehended.

Stolen items have ranged in cost from $1.50 to a recently attempted theft of a portable television set, valued at $100.

Makeup Items, Records

Pilfering of cosmetics has a high incidence, the manager pointed out, commenting, "The girls don't fool around. They always go for the better lip-sticks and cosmetics, not the less expensive brands."

Young males lean toward record albums, Gillie said. He cited an incident involving a juvenile youth, arrested two weeks ago, who was known to have removed items from the store without paying on several occasions, specifically record albums.

His method of operation in getting the merchandise out of the store presented a puzzling problem to store personnel, until it was discovered that the youth walked aimlessly around the building for some time, usually disappeared into the garden supplies shop and then left his purloined items near a fence or passed them to friends outside the store enclosure. He was arrested, charged and fined.

Placing earrings and other small objects in the toes of shoes, hoping the checkout clerk will not notice them, or purchasing a flip-lid garbage container and packing it with unpaid-for merchandise are other methods practiced by thieves—youth and old.

Switching of Merchandise

Persons who do not classify themselves as shoplifters have their own particular techniques, it was explained.

Some place a lingerie item, worth $3.95, in a box meant to contain a $1.50 undergarment. When the mistake is discovered at the checkout counter, they profess to know nothing about the items and say, "Well, how did that get in there?"

Shoplifting reaches new heights during the summer months when youngsters are out school and again in October and November when heavier clothing is being worn, making it easier to walk out with several garments.

The more hardened pros start operating in force during the fall months, beginning their Christmas "shopping" early.

Parents Unconcerned

"What really worries me," Gillie commented, "is the apathetic attitude in parents confronted with the fact their child is a shoplifter. Until the parents are faced with paying that $50 fine, that is, then, all of a sudden, they show a deep-seated interest in the problem and their offspring."

"Parents then call and ask that the charges be dropped. Personally, I have tried as a GIFT FOR MYERS. John W. Leonard (left) who has been named dean of the Business Division of SIU-SW, presents a pen and pencil desk set to Kenneth H. store manager and as a father to sit down and talk to these youthful offenders.

"Now there are so many, and one doesn't know whether the young person is telling the truth and that this is the first time he has tried shoplifting, or if it is a habitual thing and it's just the first time he's been caught."

"Frequently, I would call the parents to come into the store. Some didn't seem to care and others were very abusive, so now we let the police handle things," he explained.

"Granite City police are very cooperative and Chief Ronald Veizer has taken a great interest in this problem with the juvenile thief."

Counseled by Older Youths

"Some older youths tell younger children what they want and get them to steal it for them. We have seen this happen many times."

"When the youngsters are taken into custody, they have reported that an older youth put them up to the job. Of course, we can't touch the older kids as they are 'not involved,' and they get away with it," the manager said.

"In discussing the shoplifting situation recently, one individually informed me that all you have to do is tell me the size, color and style of garment you want and I will have it delivered to you within 24 hours—from your store or any other in town," Gillie said.

Emphasizing again the indifference of some parents, he mentioned the case of a young boy, perhaps eight or nine years old, recently caught walking out of the store with unpaid merchandise.

"When I asked where his mother was, the child said she was at work and his father was at a bowling alley."

"Can I Finish My Game?"

"We contacted the child's father by telephone, told him what the youngster had done and asked him to come over to the store to discuss the problem. 'Can you wait until I finish this game?' the boy's parent inquired unconcernedly. This is the attitude that really bothers me."

Gillie said a box arrived at the store two weeks ago, containing several lipsticks and rouges. A handwritten note, obviously penned by an adult, stated, "Some little girls took these things from the store. The parent should have brought the children into the store and let us talk to them. This would have done more good than sending the items back to us anonymously."

"Because of this lack of concern, we are prosecuting all shoplifters. I believe the $50 fine does jolt the parents and this is what we need to stop this wholesale theft."

Merchants must take a firmer stand against the shoplifter, in his opinion. Many decline to prosecute as they are afraid of losing business or hurting someone's feelings, but this position

Contributions by Navy Mothers to Hospitals

Quad-City Navy Mothers Unit held a business meeting Thursday evening at the VFW hall, with Commander Bette Mertz in charge.

Several contributions were made, including $10 to mental health and $30 to the Jefferson Barracks Hospital for a carnival for patients.

Three boxes of books were sent to the Danville Hospital, Pomeroy, Bay, Hill 327, Vietnam, and one box to Da Nang, Saigon.

Mrs. Alice Christian, Mrs. Mertz and Mrs. Elsie Quinlan were hostesses for the evening and special prizes were won by Mrs. Faye Robinson and Arley Morgan. The mystery package went to the commander.

Staff Training

Instead of a special security force, Grant's has found it is better to train its sales personnel to be observant.

Special training sessions are conducted and clerks discuss various problems related to shoplifting at weekly meetings.

"Forty or 50 people, all aware of the problem and watching for it, are more effective than one or two specialists," Gillie said.

As a member of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce Law and Order Committee, he is interested in repeating a shoplifting seminar for store owners, managers and clerks conducted by the Chamber last year.

He is working closely with Avery Schermer of Schermer's Market in Madison in setting up a similar educational series for local retail people.

"Shoplifting creates a major loss to most merchants, worth several billion dollars annually in goods stolen nationwide, and it increases the cost to all consumers, I believe everyone should take an interest in this problem and help try to curb it," Gillie concluded.

Radio Operator Relays Help Plea in Bus Crash

The first call for help to Pennsylvania state police after a bus loaded with children crashed over an embankment near Allentown, Pa. last week, killing seven children and injuring 52 others, may have originated with a Granite City "ham" operator who picked up a plea for aid on a radio citizen's band.

Notice of the call for help was flashed to Pennsylvania state police by Radio Superior Unit Obst of the Illinois district state police headquarters at Maryville after he had been called by Bryan Kelley, 2412 Bromley avenue, who monitored the citizens' band call.

Obst said he was called a few minutes after 2 p.m. July 15 by Kelley, who said he had picked up a message from a man. The man reported he was a bus driver and that a bus loaded with children had plunged over a cliff "in Pennsylvania." The bus driver appealed for help, but did not specify his location.

Obst said he relayed the message to Pennsylvania state police at 2:07 p.m., but that he received no acknowledgement or confirmation of the message. The supervisor said Kelley told him he heard no further broadcasts, although he contacted several area radio operators and asked them to try to pick up signals.

Obst and Kelley believe the call was made over a two-way radio from the site of the bus crash under atmospheric conditions that "skipped" the message as far as the Granite City area.

The bus, loaded with children headed for an overnight outing, skidded on a curve on a wet highway, crashed through eight guardrails and plunged down a 50-foot embankment, overturning and over and over down the cliff.

Exam on Sept. 1 for Assessing Supervisor

The Department of Local Government Affairs has set Sept. 1 to conduct an additional examination for Supervisor of Assessments for Madison county. The department will conduct the examination at the courthouse in Edwardsville at 9:30 a.m.

Application blanks may be secured from Miss Eulalia Hotz, county clerk, at her office in Edwardsville. To be eligible for appointment, a person must have had at least two years of experience in the field of real estate sales, assessments, finance or appraisals and must have passed an examination conducted by the department to determine his or her competence to hold the office.

The department will certify to the County Board of Supervisors a list of the persons who pass the examination. The board then must select one of the three persons attaining the highest grades in the examination.

The term of office will be for four years from the date of appointment. According to the provisions of Illinois statutes, the county board fixes the salary of the county supervisor of assessments and, in counties of 200,000 population or more, the minimum is $13,000.

The state will reimburse the county 50% of the amount of salary the county pays to such officer.

The county supervisor of assessments is to serve as clerk of the county Board of Review, receive no additional compensation for such services.

150 Attend Municipal Band Concert in Venice

More than 150 residents of Venice and Madison last week attended a concert by the Staunton Municipal Band on the grounds of the Venice Community Center. It was the first performance by a municipal band in the Venice area and was well received.

Currently in its 107th year of service, the 45-member Staunton band performed here under the direction of Howard Meyer. Numbers included "Proud Heritage" by William P. Latham, "The Shadow of Your Smile" by Paul Webster and Johnny Mandel, "Mr. Lucky" by Henry Mancini, "Lullaby and Lullaby" by John R. Edmunds, a medley of Martin tunes—"The Sweetheart Tree," "Dear Heart" and "Charade"—arranged by Warrington, "Oliver" by Lionel Bart and "Coat of Arms" by George Kony.

The Staunton musicians expressed approval of the concert site, citing the natural bandshell setting, formed by an overhanging roof and fountain area between two of the Venice community center's buildings, and a park area at the rear of the structures furnished a bowl seating arrangement.

The concert was sponsored by the Venice-Madison Fine Arts Committee, which will meet at 1 p.m. Tuesday at the Venice-Lincoln Technical school.

Dental School Preparation Subject to approval by the State Board of Dental Examiners, the trustees authorized renovation of an auditorium at the Alton SIU center.

It will be used by the new School of Dental Medicine.

Dr. Rendlemann urged board approval of the project, noting that alterations are necessary to ready the structure "if we expect to accept our first freshman class in September 1971."

Legion Eliminated in Division Playoff Meet

Granite City's American Legion baseball team was eliminated in division playoffs during the weekend, losing to O'Fallon 7-4 Saturday and to Dupu 2-0 Sunday at Edwardsville.

The local team was plagued with the same trouble it had all season — leaving men on base.

Jeff Boyles pitched a two-hitter in going nine innings against Dupu, but 11 GC runners were stranded. Dupu won in the eighth on a triple.

In the Saturday game, GC outlived O'Fallon 13 to 10, but 18 men were left on. Ed Hagauer started on the mound, working five innings, while Boyles and Ron Simpson were called in relief.

The biggest upset was dealt to Collinsville, which lost 13-4 to Belleville in the double-elimination tourney. Action continues today on the Edwardsville diamond.

GC ended its season with a 67 league record. A bright spot noted by Coach Babe Champion is that seven of the first nine will be back next year.

Liberty, Mexican
Clark Teams Victors

Liberty Home defeated Abel's Auto Body 8-4, Clark's Vikings blanked Victory Tavern 28-5 and the Mexican Honorary Commission Mexican Murdock Falstaff 13-3 in Northern Classic Softball League play Thursday night at Worthen Park.

Larry Lilley homered a n d doubled, and Gary Whitehead collected three hits and two walks as Clark's garnered 24 salutes.

Dave Sparks led Mexican with three hits, including a homer and a double, and Grant Takmajian and Augie Becerra added three each to a 19-hit attack.

Leading Liberty Home at the plate were Decho Angeloski, three hits and a walk and Paul Kacera with a triple, while Charles Saho collected three strikes for Abel.

STRINGER OF SEA
FISH. James Presley sr., 317 East Chain of Rocks road, landed 35 deep-sea fish, including cod, sand snapper and ocean blue weighing three to five pounds, from the Pacific Ocean. He fished during a visit to his son, James jr., in the armed forces stationed at Fort Ord, Calif.

Park Dance Thursday
A musical group known as "Chief River," including Granite Citys David Johns, Dennis Baker and Phil Edwards and East St. Louisans Paul Clark, Gary Hester and Joe Beatty, will be featured at a park district teenage dance from 8 to 11 p.m. Thursday at the Wilson Park ice rink.

Two Autos Damaged
Two autos owned by Claude Cook, 2800 Delta avenue, parked in front of his home, were damaged by a car owned by Irma G. Helwege, Wiltenburg, Mo., which had been backed out of driveway across the street at 10:25 p.m. Sunday.

EARL says...
Each year hundreds of fishermen come to the EARL's Discount Store and tell me of their luck, where they have been, and what they have scored on, particularly when it comes to bass. If I were to choose some of the best fish-getting lures from these reports in the last year or two, I would say that the constant favorites are these:

In the top water group I would list Devil Horse, Jitterbug, Gula Popper, and Chugger, all good bass getters. Of course cuphead poppers, wooly worms, and dry flies are good for Bluegill & crappie.

In mid-runners I'd choose: Rapala & Rebel, (full length) Rapala Hump Back & Bomber & plastic worms.

Deep-running lures would be Muggs, Johnson Spoon, Hot Spot, Sonic, loaded purple & black plastic worms & Mariboo Jigs.

Such a list would constitute bare minimum for your tackle box, but would certainly put you off to a grand start. There are many other lures that resemble the above in action and style that some days are just more appealing to the fish than those mentioned. That's why you have to keep switching till you find what's right for that day, in that lake, in that spot. Of course it goes without saying, that a Lawrence Fish-Lo-K-Ter will tell you if the fish are there in the first place. It is truly the fisherman's best friend. I don't have to tell you where you get all this jazz.

THAT'S EARL, BROTHER...

Championship Rodeo Here Is Seen by 7700

It takes a special breed to become a rodeo cowboy and more than 7700 area residents learned Saturday and yesterday, it also takes a special breed of Jaycee to overcome numerous obstacles and win for the first time here a world championship rodeo.

A total of 152 entrants from 19 states turned the Granite City rodeo into one of the "biggest and best shows," according to Gary Davis, Jaycee project chairman. "The performers, stock contractor and officials have agreed to return next year for another show," he said.

The largest crowd ever to witness an event at the Tri-City Speedway, totaling over 5700 persons, was on hand Saturday night to see the rodeo, which began 45 minutes late after amplifying equipment failed just prior to the starting time.

Rain Causes Delay

Slightly more than 2000 at the Sunday afternoon's performance were forced to wait three hours until maintenance work was completed at the rodeo arena following a heavy downpour of rain in the morning.

A major attraction was the appearance here of Jack Wiseman of Houston, Tex., the national champion cowboy, and top money winner in 1969.

Wearing a large No. 1, the champion rider captured first place points in the Granite City rodeo, winning the bull riding contest and placing fourth in steer wrestling competition for 231 points.

Other performers among the nation's top ten cowboys appearing here were Johnny Clark, Bedford, Tex., third place in bareback bronc riding and bull riding; Tom Orr, Byron, Ill., second in saddle bronc riding; and Ron Martin, River Grove, Ill., fourth in bareback.

Event Winners

Winners of the five main events were Ben Jordan, Smithville, Okla., bareback; Jimmy Clark, Warrenville, Ill., calf roping; Gene Maynard, Grove, Okla., saddle bronc; Denny Morton, Warner, Okla., steer wrestling; and Wiseman, bull riding.

Perhaps the most thrilling of all rodeo events, the bull riding contest, created extra excitement for local fans when "old No. 36," a vicious Brahman, jumped a makeshift fence at one side of the arena and escaped into the infield portion of the speedway.

The large black animal eluded immediate capture, but was corralled finally at the opposite-side speedway track and was ushered with careful handling and no provocation by the cowboys back into the arena circle and through the exit gates.

Madison police apprehended two juveniles Thursday afternoon after Fred Bosworth, 1885 Second street, reported he had been robbed of 20 cents while delivering papers on his route. He told officers that two boys took the money from him in the 600 block of Market street.

Two of three juveniles who entered the Busy Bee Bakery, 806 Madison avenue, Madison, Thursday afternoon fled from the shop with three dozen ice cream bars while the third boy threatened a clerk by strapping a leather strap at her.

Outside the shop, however, a passing motorist saw the running boys, jumped from his car and took the ice cream from the youths. The boys escaped on a bicycle.

Meanwhile, police arrived and apprehended the third boy, who still was in the bakery shop. He was questioned and may be charged, police said.

Stolen Rings Recovered
The burglary of a Venice home in which two rings valued at $339 were stolen and recovery of the stolen items a short time later through the arrest of two juveniles, were reported by Venice police at 2:35 p.m. Thursday.

The burglary occurred at the home of Mary Scruggs, 33 Lee Wright Homes, where a front door screen was cut to gain entry. A diamond dinner ring worth $349 and another ring valued at $90 were stolen.

Authorities said they picked up two small boys who had been leaving the house. The boys took police to a vacant house where they turned over a tin box containing one of the rings.

The boys told police they had sold the other ring to a woman for $2. That ring also was recovered.

A 1962 two-door auto stolen from Second and Jackson streets, Madison, from James Brown, St. Louis, was recovered shortly after midnight today by Venice police.

1963 Auto Stolen
The black 1963 four-door auto of Russell Lockridge, 2122 Main street, was stolen from the driveway of his home Friday night.

A 1961 auto owned by George Moore, 901 Main street, Venice, was stolen at Garrett's tavern, Venice, between 11:30 p.m. Friday and 12:40 a.m. Saturday.

MORE ABOUT City Budget

pointed out that their budget bill included $139,456 for payment on construction of the city's stormwater sewer line which Partney had not included among his budget items.

In addition, they said, the cost of all salary raises totaled $36,000 more than the $28,800 that Partney had proposed for this purpose in his budget draft.

"These two items alone make up the difference between the totals of the finance committee's budget and that presented by the mayor," Robertson said.

The committee chairman said that among items added to the budget in recent committee meetings is the sum of $15,000 for construction of a fence along the Great River Road (FA Route 151) which the state highway division has declined to finance. The fence would provide protection for traffic at roadways running into the highway.

Increases of $50 have been provided for many city workers, although the amount of increase will run higher in the police and fire departments, Robertson said.

City salary workers for whom salary raises have not been agreed upon are clerical workers in the city clerk's office and the city treasurer's office.

Robertson said the negotiating committee recently agreed to a request for a U.S. mediator to enter into talks for salary raises.

The budget will include provisions for salary increases to cover an eventual settlement for these workers, he said.

Steelworker Officers

Gerald Tuttle last week began his duties as president of Granite City Steel Co. United Steelworkers Local 16, succeeding Vasil Mihov. Everett Morlen is the new vice-president, replacing Bert Enfield. Other 1970-71 officers are Earl Baker, recording secretary and joint committee alternate; Bill Mihov, financial secretary; Al Barnes, treasurer; Chris Amisch, guide; Dave Baugher, guide; John Holland and Jerry Baker, trustees; Brandon Mathis, grievance committee; and Charles Hackett, joint committee man.

Hurt in Boat Accident

MORE ABOUT Hearing

In February when the mayor closed the city hall switchboard for economy reasons and transferred Marge Hall and Cleo Buttery to the police department to serve as dispatchers and relieve two police officers for outside duty.

Since March 15, Alderman Charles Moerlen has separated the salaries for the women dispatchers from the regular payroll list, thereby refusing approval for payment.

In mid-June, Mrs. Buttery resigned her post. The mayor replaced her with Mrs. Laveta Russell, who formerly worked in the city inspector's office.

Council Refused Payment

At the July 6 council session, the aldermen separated Mrs. Russell's salary and refused payment, although she had not yet gone to work for the police department. Her job there started July 7.

Mayor Partney pointed out that the salary payment for Mrs. Russell rejected by the council July 6 was for her previous work as the inspector's office.

Officials of six unions which represent city employees filed mandamus proceedings in circuit court at Edwardsville last Thursday, the day following the city's first payroll payment in recent history.

The petition asks the court to issue an order directing Mayor Partney to sign the payroll checks. A hearing is set for Wednesday before Circuit Judge Joseph J. Barr.

The payroll for the 145 employees amounts to $55,000. Alderman Gerald Parnley said he views the mayor's attitude as "childish."

Parnley added, "The aldermen don't mind, because they don't depend on their paychecks, but there are a lot of children of city employees involved."

volved, and he's putting them in jeopardy."

Cost-Cutting Effort

The mayor has pointed out the city's income-spending imbalance and the council's reluctance to improve his economy proposals.

Transfer of two women employees to the police department was ordered by Partney as an economy move, freeing higher-paid officers for away-from-the-telephone police duties.

Pay claims of the female police dispatchers were ordered paid in a magistrate court and the city council's petition for a rehearing was denied, but the council has continued to block salary payments to the two women.

Exchange of Telegrams

Other elements of organized labor took little time in being heard from as the issue was raised by the Tri-City Trades & Labor Council the same evening the salaries went unpaid.

On Thursday, Edwin F. Reisk, council president, dispatched the following telegram to Mayor Partney:

"Mr. Mayor, at a regular meeting of the Tri-City Trades & Labor Council held on July 15, action was taken to send you this telegram asking you to reconsider your action in regards to the pay of all city employees who are members of organized labor, to pay them as soon as possible."

In reply, the mayor wired: "In answer to your telegram dated July 16, regarding payment of all city employees who are members of organized labor, where has organized labor been for the past four months when two union members have been denied their pay by members of the city council?"

"All employees will be paid when these two good union members are paid up to date."

CALLS MADISON ISSUE FREEDOM OR CAPTIVITY

To the Editor:
In the current campaign for mayor of the city of Madison, in which I am a candidate, I have observed many important elements.

It is apparent that freedom does not exist in certain areas. Liberation or freedom of the woman to aspire to political office is being restricted.

Liberation or freedom of the woman to independently cast her vote is being doubted.

Liberation or freedom of the Negro to exercise his right to vote is being thwarted.

Liberation or freedom of the black people to exist without pressure from "Uncle Toms" is questioned.

Liberation or freedom of municipal employees to perform as first-rate citizens is an impossibility.

These are some of the problems in a candidate who is independently facing in the city of Madison, which is supposed to be part of free America.

As I proceed in my campaign of the community I find many people who tell me not to take the sign they have in their yard seriously because they have allowed it to be placed there under duress, pressure, intimidation and violence from the people placing them.

A massive production of signs, buttons, bumper stickers, etc., indicates a tremendous cost outlay. Doesn't it seem ridiculous that these men are spending more on this campaign than full year's salary as mayor will pay them? Why?

Let us remember that this is a two-way street. If we have such a display of power tactics necessary? Simply to keep control, with the hope that at the end of two years everyone will again fall under the pressures of machine control.

With the help of people from all walks of life regardless of race, religion or color, I hope to become an interim mayor.

As an interim mayor I hope to do those things which will give the citizens the opportunity to regroup, by welding the good people into unity, and allowing them to govern themselves and to select their own representatives on the city council.

With their help, they can be liberated and finally have freedom.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt told his people that if anything people have to fear is fear itself.

My slogan, "Vote for what you want (freedom) or take what they give (captivity)" tells the story.

New Techniques Needed to Deal With the University Disrupters

By DR. SAMUEL E. BRADEN
President, Illinois State University

The university, if it is to maintain its institutional integrity, must learn new techniques of dealing with the small group of determined disrupters.

Violence on campus injects a totally unfamiliar element into contemporary American life.

The exercise of physical force has no place in any society pledged to peaceful resolution of conflict, and especially in a university community that is not staffed, equipped or accustomed to deal with sit-ins, vandalism or forcible disruption, whether from within or without.

It is here that the university must develop new means of meeting such challenges.

Illinois State's oldest institution of higher learning, was the largest in the state of Illinois to escape serious injury, damage or violence in the recent outbreak of campus disturbances around the country.

But even at that, it was touched and for 17 days, with repeated demonstrations.

I became aware of the problem of communicating across the generation gap this more than ever before in my 35 years of experience in higher education.

There are inattentive minorities on either side of the gap, and these are the ones by whom I am most likely to be confronted, yet I remain neither to me nor to each other.

Thus, I grow weary arguing with the impatient young that neither I as a person nor the university as an institution can and should solve the problems of pollution and over-population, insure respect for church and country, end racial injustice and eliminate poverty by next Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

On the other hand, I am appalled by the failure of many members of my generation to hear anything that these young people are saying to us.

Members of my generation seem unable to understand how our apparent acceptance of these very problems is seen by young people as a kind of cynical cop-out on our part.

My generation regularly preaches the virtues of brotherly love, yet all the while it is warring and discriminating.

My generation eagerly extols the values of the American way of life, all the while it seems hell-bent for self-strangulation through poverty, pollution, over-population and lack of tolerance for supposedly important social institutions.

Small wonder that the young see an inconsistency in all this. I debunk the commonly held thought that it is only a small handful of the young people who are not satisfied with the status quo.

Anyone who believes that, by getting rid of these people along with the professor or two on whom they lean for their support, the problem of campus unrest is solved has, in my opinion, misread the whole situation.

The problem we have listed are of concern to most young people, not just a few of them. To them, the habitability of the world of the future depends on the elimination of these problems.

The question of the needs of the young is not whether there are problems facing our society, but whether and when we are going to try seriously to solve them.

If my generation evades this question, then the young will see that to some of the young are to use our inattention as an excuse for coping out of the system altogether, or for violently tearing down the system as it now functions.

The 1700 graduates who are leaving this campus will begin to see the generation gap in a new perspective. They will begin to be vigorous in their attack on the immense social problems of our day.

I urge, too, that they be tolerant of their campus successors, as they follow their footsteps in the world of the future, a better university, and a better world.

These things can be done. We still have time. We need only the determination, exercised by each person in the style which is most effective for him.

As they do their daily work, I ask that they try hard to put reverence into their hearts, and brotherly love into their actions.

Memorable New Memory Device

(American Institute of Physics)

A simple, new electronic memory cell, that may someday provide information for your telephone call to twenty times faster than existing equipment, has been developed by Bell Laboratories.

The tiny memory cell, a new type of semiconductor for future use in the telephone switching system, may permit computer memory access speeds in the billions, rather than millions, of a second.

The Bell System is seeking memory systems with higher performance than those now used in computers, to store and process a larger volume of route data, phone numbers and other information needed for handling telephone calls.

The new device may help telephone companies handle many more calls per hour.

The semiconductor memory was described by its inventor, Sigurd Waalen, as an unusually simple arrangement of two diodes, of two types, for each memory cell.

Experimental cells and arrays of cells made thus far indicate a potential memory capacity of 100,000 bits of information per square inch of integrated circuit material. Read rates are expected to be a second per bit are expected.

Near-Sighted Robin Hood May Wound All Illinoisans With His Taxation Arrows

There has been much pulling and tugging over Illinois tax sources last year and this year, and both legislators and constitutional delegates are showing the strain. They have tended to take the tax from a higher level of income, perhaps keeping an eye on their popularity ratings; citizens, after all, are more numerous than businessmen.

As a result, Illinois is in danger of becoming one of the more oppressive states, discouraging new or expanded industry. Transportation of goods being relatively simple in this day and age, manufacturers have an easy answer: pick a site in one of the other 49 states.

If a "soak the rich" policy really did just that, an argument might be made that this leaves more money in the pockets of the poor. Robin Hood, we recall, was more widely liked than the sheriff of Nottingham and may have measurably helped people in some instances with his "take from those who have it and give to those who don't."

Life in 1970 is not quite as simple as in Sherwood Forest nine centuries ago.

The state and local-level tax structure makes up a crucial part of the business climate considered when locating new facilities. Whether such site decisions are affirmative or negative directly affects potential employees and present taxpayers.

As President L. S. Provo of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway has said to Constitutional Convention delegates, "Attraction of new businesses to Illinois will add to the Illinois tax base the property, sales and income of such new businesses. To the extent that the new businesses become customers of existing Illinois businesses, the Illinois tax base will be further expanded by the resulting increased property, sales and income of the existing firms."

"Both the new businesses and the expansion of the existing business will expand employment, which is beneficial to Illinois workers, and in addition, further increases the income, sales and property tax base by the resulting wages and the spending or investment thereon."

"Finally, such increase in spendable wages will increase demand, attracting new business to the state seeking to fill sales demand, which will start another similar growth cycle."

To encourage an expanding, healthy government revenue base rather than stagnant, excessive-to-everyone taxation, Provo favors a ban on classifying real estate, differing property tax levels; adequate financing of local agencies to reduce the heavy reliance on real estate taxes; abolition of the tax on business

But even this overhauling of funds could be thrown further out of balance by the collapse of the economy since there are doubts whether the estimated revenues—projected by the Administration last March—will actually be collected.

Another factor may be the projected surplus—or lack of a surplus—left in the FY 1970 budget.

It will be interesting to see how close various surplus estimates are when the FY 1970 books are closed on Sept. 30, and how much may be left to actually supplement the FY 1971 revenue.

personal property simultaneously with the probably-approaching end of the tax on personal property of individuals; establishment of a maximum state income tax rate, with the corporate rate made the same as the individual rate or the rate differential more clearly limited; a ban on the graduated income tax measured by gross receipts and on a corporate franchise tax measured by gross receipts or retained earnings.

Cosmetics are beauty products used by teenagers to make them look older sooner and by their mothers to make them look younger longer.

The payroll payment problem encountered by Granite City municipal employees could be quickly resolved if the city council accepts the fact that two women police dispatchers are working and ought to be paid.

The council should do just that and approve salaries tonight for all city employees—not all but two, as it has been doing since March. There is no question but that the payroll checks immediately would be signed by Mayor Partney.

We do not agree with everything the mayor does, nor do we agree with every stand by the aldermen. Neither side in the prolonged squabble has been totally right 100% of the time.

Whether the mayor is justified in his "all or nothing at all" payroll approach is not the main point at this stage. It smacks of power tactics, but the council has seldom hesitated to throw its own weight around when it had sufficient votes to do so, especially when it could thwart the mayor in one of his undertakings.

The humanitarian aspect looms large. Policemen, firemen, street crews and other city employees and their families—cannot long maintain food, housing and other necessities of life without income. This fact was borne out eloquently when one of the two original lady dispatchers—later replaced by another lady—had to resign a few weeks ago to make financial ends meet.

The courts have backed up the mayor in ruling that the city government owes the dispatchers' salaries and ought to pay them.

If the unhappy police wives and the others concerned about absent paychecks urge aldermen to authorize release of funds earned by the women dispatchers, the whole "tempest in a teapot" is likely to subside abruptly.

Men have a much better time of it than women. They marry later . . . and die sooner.

Cooperative First-Aid Disaster Program

Cooperative efforts by the Red Cross, Civil Defense, emergency groups and others seem likely to enhance the ability of Quad-City area volunteers to render prompt first-aid services in the event of a disaster.

Adequate training is to be emphasized along with the contact between workers storing supplies, transporting injured persons and providing emergency shelter when needed.

All interested in helping provide such vital assistance of the extent of the present knowledge of first-aid, will be welcomed at the next joint meeting of the participating groups July 27.

Affluence, Inefficiency Creating Health Crisis Remediable Only by A Sweeping National Commitment

(The American Assembly)

(First of Two Articles)

This nation is in a health crisis—a crisis marked by increased health expectations of a larger, better educated, and generally more affluent population.

This crisis is manifested by inadequate services, which themselves are fragmented, inefficient, inequitably distributed, and uncoordinated. The crisis can be contained, but only by national commitment to prompt action of a sweeping nature.

Steadily rising costs and inaccessibility of care have created widespread dissatisfaction with the delivery of personal health services.

The delivery system itself cannot much longer withstand assaults from over-demand, under-supply, and disorganization. Unchanged, it will break down.

Health personnel are in short supply, inefficiently used, maldistributed, and specialists are needed in regard to priority of need.

Health facilities, which should be interrelated, are independently operated, unnecessarily duplicative, improperly distributed, uneconomically utilized, and often poorly managed.

Health costs are inequitably distributed, rising faster than other costs, and are catastrophic for many.

This country now spends more than sixty billion dollars yearly to combat illness. This is about seven percent of the gross national product and it represents nearly three hundred dollars per person.

Nonetheless, most Americans do not have access to adequate health services. The twenty-five million poor are deprived of needed health care, and they have a higher than average incidence of illness.

Unplanned expansion, ignorance, apathy, and willful abuse contribute to mounting personal health problems with social consequences.

Smoking, excessive and improper food, lack of exercise, drug abuse and alcoholism, unplanned and unwanted pregnancies, avoidable diseases, mental health and emotional stresses are examples.

Environmental hazards to health are increasing alarmingly: air and water pollution, radiation exposure, accidents, noise, noxious chemicals in homes, schools, and workplaces, and the use of pesticides, herbicides, and insecticides.

Ecological imbalance. The present knowledge of first-aid, will be welcomed at the next joint meeting of the participating groups July 27.

State Mental Health Commission in Area

The Illinois Commission on Mental Health will hold a hearing at Alton State Hospital Wednesday to find out why air conditioning has not been installed in patient wards.

State Rep. Sam M. Vadalabene (D, Edwardsville), a member of the commission, said the 9:30 a.m. meeting will be open to the public and "any relevant information people have will be examined carefully."

Commission members have a broad view of the mental health situation in Illinois, but the size and scope of the program makes it impossible to know particular details about every institution. That is why we need and depend on local citizens who know what is going on to tell us of irregularities," he said.

Matters to be aired at the meeting include the likelihood of overcrowding caused by transfer of patients between wards, and the effect of the heat on elderly patients.

Vadalabene, who has served on the Appropriations Committee during his term in the House, wants to find out what happened to a $400,000 appropriation made in 1965 for repairs and maintenance at the hospital, he said. It was to be used for air-conditioning.

Other members of the Mental Health Commission who will attend are State Rep. Helmut Stolle of Chicago, Sen. Frank Ozinga of Evergreen Park, Elizabeth Perry of Decatur and Dr. John Cutler of Chicago.

Nagy Part of Aerial Survey in S. America

Technical Sgt. Joseph J. Nagy, brother of James Lelik, 2284 Gary avenue, is a member of a special U. S. Air Force aerial survey team that has been conducting aerial mapping photography in South America.

Sgt. Nagy is an aircraft maintenance technician with the Air Force's Aerospace Cartographic and Geodetic Service (ACGS), headquartered at Forbes AFB, Kan., which has been flying over the towering, rugged peaks of the Andes Mountains to photograph 25,000 square miles of the border between Chile and Argentina.

Aerial photography—the end result of the project—may better determine the exact international boundary between Argentina and Chile.

Requested by the two South American countries, the project began in late January and was suspended in May because of snow cover and atmospheric conditions. ACGS personnel will return to complete the project in January 1971 when weather conditions improve.

ACGS was assigned the project by the military agency capable of providing aerial cartographic and geodetic data on a worldwide basis and has the aircraft capable of attaining the altitude required to obtain photographs at the desired scale.

Aircraft were flown at altitudes of 40,000 feet above sea level to obtain acceptable photography of the border area.

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, which administers operation of the locks, reports that a total of 2,249,340 tons of freight passed through the locks on its way downriver during June, while 2,271,545 tons were locked through the canal on the way upriver.

A total of 5819 vessels, including 916 towboats and 4603 barges, passed through the canal during June in 1942 lockages.

The June freight movements brought to 23,294,053 tons the amount of freight shipments locked through the canal during the first half of this year. This is a rise of 3,388,975 tons above the 19,905,078 tons of freight passing through the locks in the first six months of 1969.

During the six-month operation so far this year, 30,776 vessels were locked through the canal. These included 5179 towboats, 24,800 barges, 331 private recreation boats and 85 government patrol boats.

For the comparable period of last year, 27,151 craft moved through the canal, including 4731 towboats and 21,525 barges.

Freight shipments through the canal last month included:

Petroleum products, 564,820 tons up and 201,559 tons down; grain, 29,800 tons up and 1,686,650 tons down; coal, 824,500 up and 2880 down; cement, sand and gravel, 13,400 tons up and 89,570 down; sulphur, 620 up and none down; miscellaneous commodities, 446,900 up and 107,234 down; iron and steel products, 34,000 up and 162,000 down; and chemicals, 234,120 up and 39,860 down the river.

In addition to the towboats and barges using the canal in June, other craft movements included two passenger boats, 196 recreation boats, 13 government towboats, 67 government barges, one government construction boat and 21 government patrol boats.

Freight tonnage by months during the first half of the year, with 1969 comparison figures in parentheses was as follows:

January, 1,860,065 (2,173,732); February, 3,375,963 (2,861,923); March, 4,551,974 (3,448,872); April, 4,540,949 (3,440,183); May, 4,440,288 (3,886,283); and June, 4,527,194 (3,983,980).

Hearing Tuesday On Relocation of Illinois Rt. 157

A public hearing to consider specific location and design features of the proposed relocation of Illinois Rt. 157 in Madison county is to be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Webster school auditorium at Collinsville.

State highway engineers said maps showing the proposed highway location will be displayed prior to, during and after the hearing.

Personnel of the District Eight highway office at French Village will be present before and after the hearing to discuss individual problems concerning the project.

A similar hearing was held July 15, 1969, but major changes in the design features have been made since that time.

Plans call for relocation of Route 157 slightly west of its present location. The highway will be expanded to four lanes.

Route To SIU-SW
The proposed improvement is part of a plan to provide a good route to the Southern Illinois University - Southwestern campus. The highway district also hopes to widen Route 157 from Cahokia to Edwardsville during the next five years.

The plans originally called for construction of a limited access highway from the Granite City-Collinsville road State Aid Route 35 to Glen Carbon. The project calls for two 24-foot traffic lanes separated by a 46-foot median, with interchanges to be built at Illinois Route 162 and Sandcut lane.

The highway department expects completion of the project in 1975, but said work probably will not get under way until 1972.

5 Divorces, Annulment Granted Area Couples

Five divorce decrees and an annulment have been granted to Quad-City area couples in Madison county circuit court. Divorced were:

Gerald Francis Slater from Pauline Elizabeth Slater, both of Granite City. They were married July 3, 1948, in Granite City. Mental cruelty was charged. According to a previous agreement, custody of three children was given to the father, while the mother received custody of two children. The father agreed to pay $15 per week child support for each of the two children.

Raeleene Douglas from Robert Douglas, both of Granite City. They were married Aug. 10, 1968, in Glen Carbon. Cruelty was charged. Her former name of Raeleene Callender was restored.

Maretha D. Wahl of Granite City from Kenneth H. Wahl of Edwardsville. They were married Aug. 31, 1963, in Alton and separated last March 8. Mental cruelty was charged. Her maiden name of Maretha Pretzsch was restored.

Bernard Mosley from Selma Mosley, both of Madison. They were married March 23, 1964, in St. Louis. Mental cruelty was charged. Custody of two children was given to the mother, and the father is to pay child support of $160 per month.

David Lee David of the Granite City Army Depot from Charlotte Eve David of Danville. They were married April 17, 1968, and separated last April. Adultery was charged. Custody of one child was given to the father.

The annulment was obtained by Judith Ann Turner, a minor, by her mother, Mrs. Betty Freeman, from Robert Otis Turner. They entered into a marriage ceremony Sept. 28, in East St. Louis. She was 17 at the time and consent of her parents was obtained under false representations, as Turner had not obtained a final decree of divorce or annulment from a previous marriage, it was ruled. Her former name of Judith Ann Freeman was restored.

Joyce-Wille Wedding Vows at St. John's

St. John's United Church of Christ, 2801 Nameoki road, was the scene of the wedding Saturday evening of Miss Lynn M. Wille and Harold D. Joyce.

Rev. Paul Surbey officiated at the 7:30 ceremony in a candle-light setting. Bouquets of white summer flowers adorned the altar and urns of similar flowers were placed on either side.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wille, 2223 Lincoln avenue, and the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Joyce, reside at 2017 Illinois avenue.

Mrs. Irene Barrick presided at the organ as Mrs. Paul Surbey sang the Lord's Prayer and "I Love Thee."

Escorted down the white-carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Wille selected a bridal gown of imported Chantilly lace fashioned with an Empire bodice featuring a scalloped neckline and flared angel sleeves.

The floor-length double skirt of nylon sheer was gathered and swept into a full train.

Matching lace covered the Camelot cap that secured a full-length veil with scalloped edges. She carried a formal cascade bouquet of white feathered carnations with garlands of variegated ivy, centered with a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Kenneth Wille, a sister-in-law of the bride, matron of honor, appeared in a yellow floor-length gown of jakarta. Dyed-to-match Venice lace trimmed the high waistline and edged the short sleeves of the Empire bodice, which was designed with a scooped neckline.

An A-line skirt featured a back panel edged with matching lace. She wore as her headpiece a loop bow of matching jakarta.

The bridesmaids, Miss Barbara A. Podgorski, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Donald Cook, a sister of the groom, and Sheryl Cook, junior bridesmaid, the groom's niece, all wore dresses designed identically as that of the honor attendant but in colors of powder blue, mint green and pink.

All the attendants carried cascade bouquets of white daisies and pom poms dyed to match their gowns.

Michael Joyce was his brother's best man. Kenneth L. Wille, brother of the bride, J. T. Joyce and James Joyce, brothers of the groom, Donald E. Cook, the groom's brother-in-law, and William M. Boyd completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

The bride's mother chose a street-length dress of celery green silk shantung fashioned with a fitted bodice, A-line skirt and white accessories.

The groom's mother selected a Navy blue knit dress complemented with white accessories.

Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Mrs. William M. Boyd presided over the guest book at an evening reception given in the Fellowship Hall of the church immediately following the ceremony. A rehearsal dinner for members of the wedding party was held Thursday evening at the Rose Bowl.

The former Miss Wille is a 1967 graduate of Granite City high school and is employed at First Granite City National Bank.

Mr. Joyce graduated from Granite City high school in 1963 and is employed by the Ford Motor Co. at Hazelwood, Mo.

body and the lace train was held in place at the waist with a bow.

Labor Dept. Seeks Lower Cost for Training Plans

Solutions to new problems that continue to hold up federally-financed highway construction in Madison and St. Clair counties will be sought at meetings this week between state and U.S. Department of Labor representatives. It was reported today following a meeting of Labor Department officials in Washington Friday.

Continued delay in the start of highway construction results from departmental objections to a proposed budget for financing training provisions of the plan advanced by Illinois Gov. Richard Ogilvie to end the 22-month federal freeze on Madison-St. Clair county highway funds.

Acceptance of the Ogilvie plan by all of the involved agencies except some of the unions represents a major step toward the start of highway construction.

Notice is hereby given on the part of a subcommittee of the Circuit Court of Madison County, Illinois, wherein MARY ANNE BONILLA is Plaintiff and EFRAN BONILLA is Defendant, that the said MARY ANNE BONILLA is to be served by the undersigned on or after August 10, 1970 in the Courtroom, in Edwardsville, Illinois.

While he was backing out of his driveway, an auto driven by Robert C. Douglass, 2724 West 20th street, struck the auto of Jim L. Morris, 2716 West 20th, which was parked across the street at 2:15 p.m. Thursday.

emment believes too much money is being sought.

Budget Too High
Robert McCommen, head of the Office of National Projects in Washington, said, "We don't like to hand somebody a bunch of money. The costs have to be within reason. The budget of the training program is much too high."

The Labor Department still plans to finance the training, but a spokesman said the amount of money will be substantially less than the $1.9 million requested.

Department of Labor officials met in Washington Friday to arrive at an estimated cost for the training provisions of the Ogilvie program, and were scheduled to meet today in East St. Louis with representatives of the governor's office to discuss the projected figures.

Four Resign, Six Teachers Hired By Madison Board

Resignations of four teachers were accepted by the Madison board of education, which employed six new teachers during a regular meeting Thursday night.

Resigning were Lawrence E. Burns, social studies teacher at the high school; Reese Hoskin, assistant principal at the high school; Mrs. Jeanette Morris, primary teacher at Blair school; and Paul Oakley, assistant coach and English and physical education teacher at the high school.

Hired were Mrs. Susan Bogue of Madison, bachelor's degree from Wayne University and masters degree from Columbia University, as a special education teacher; Ronald W. Delaney of Madison, bachelor's degree from SIU-SW, as an elementary teacher at Dunbar school.

Roger A. Drake, former elementary education teacher, who returned from six months of active military service as science teacher and assistant coach at the high school; Mrs. Wanda Graham, bachelor's degree from Texas Western University, for elementary physical education.

Gordon F. Schoby, bachelor's degree from Elkhorn College, Lorman, Miss., science and physical education teacher at the high school; and John D. Harrison of Madison, bachelor's degree from SIU-SW, as a high school science teacher at the high school.

Lynwood Parker was transferred from the position of sixth grade teacher to elementary counselor for Blair and Dunbar schools.

Approval was given on the employment of Mrs. Elveria Kuersteins of Tulsa, Ill., as director of the special education district.

Maynard Carter, Blair school custodian, was placed on the disability list, and Joe Darden was employed to replace him.

Performing Arts Program

The board approved a request from the Madison-Venice fine arts committee to use Dunbar school for a lecture demonstration by the Performing Arts Training Center of SIU-SW at 7:30 p.m. Aug. 11.

The following contract were awarded on the basis of low bids:

Coal—Union Coal & Feed Co., $16 per ton; Tri-City Coal bid $16.75. Fuel oil—Federal Oil Co., 11.85 per gallon. Sinclair Oil bid 11.7 cents and Rich Oil bid 12.64 cents.

Exterior painting of Blair school, Gus T. Handee, $596; exterior painting of Harris school, Roseman Paint Co., $584.

Reports were presented on summer school, which ended last week; the recreation program, which has two weeks to run; summer work on buildings, which is nearing completion; and continued annual progress in Title I educational programs.

The treasurer's report showed a cash balance totaling $94,447.

The board approved education salaries of $13,346, building salaries of $1850, and education bills of $9221 and building bills of $5427.

Dr. Wheat, an SIU-SW Pioneer, to Retire

One of the pioneers of SIU-SW will retire at the end of the summer quarter.

He is Leonard Wheat, professor of educational administration, who was first associated with the SIU Residence Center at East St. Louis. He came to the university in January 1968, just a few months after the residence programs were established in Alton and East St. Louis in the fall of 1957.

The educator, who has served in many capacities, was honored by his colleagues at a dinner last week at the University Center.

Two months after Wheat came to SIU he was named acting director of the center at East St. Louis. The following June, he became supervisor of graduate advisement and later assistant to the all-university dean of graduate studies.

In cooperation with the Carbondale campus, Prof. Wheat established the first master's degree program at SIU-SW and set up graduate advisement and record systems for this campus.

He served on the Graduate Council a total of six years and was interim and first chairman of the Education Division. He has also served as chairman of the faculty of educational administration and supervision and on a number of committees of the university.

A native of Ellsworth, Minn., Prof. Wheat was head of the secondary education department at the University of Minnesota from 1947 to 1958. He received his B.A. degree from Northwestern University and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Columbia.

His experience before coming here includes serving as school superintendent in Dearborn, Mich.; Wichita, Kan.; and Joliet and Western Springs, Ill.

At SIU-SW he was responsible for organizing the 13 southwestern Illinois area school superintendents, who now hold an all-day forum four times a year. For 10 years, Wheat served on the forum's executive committee.

Passenger Car Sales Decline Affects Smith

A. O. Smith Corp. earned $6,890,000, or $2.78 per share, in the first six months of 1970, compared to $8,013,000, or $3.21 per share in the same period last year. L. B. Smith, chairman and chief executive officer, announced Thursday. The firm's Granite City plant produces auto frames.

For the second quarter ended June 30, A. O. Smith earned $6,890,000, or $2.78 per share, compared to $4,153,000, or $1.66 per share in the second quarter of 1969.

Sales in the first half were $28,640,000, compared to $18,022,000 last year. For the second quarter, 1970 sales were $120,949,000, compared to $99,586,000.

Smith said the lower earnings came mainly as a result of losses at the company's 50%-owned affiliate, the A. O. Smith Corp. of Texas, and lower profits in the company's automotive division. However, except for the losses at A. O. Smith of Texas, Smith said, profits of the company for the first six months would have been ahead of last year.

The Texas operation, jointly owned by Armo Steel Corp., discontinued the manufacture of bomb casings for the Defense Department in January, and had much lower sales of line pipe because of a soft market, as well as the plant renovation required to convert from flash to submerged arc welding, Smith said. Start-up costs at the Houston pipe mill were higher than expected.

The automotive division profits are down because of lower sales of passenger car frames, although the division's other product lines are ahead of last year. Smith pointed out that the estimated extraordinary earnings of $2,500,000, or $1.01 per share, realized from the sale of the company's oil well casing facilities early in 1970 were not being used for comparative purposes in the six-month report.

Sales in the first six months reflected good performances by the company's divisions and subsidiaries, Smith said. He added that much of the increase in sales also came as a result of companies acquired by A. O. Smith in 1969 whose sales were not included in the first-half report last year.

Wrong Way Charge

Richard A. Rittenhouse, St. Ann, Mo., was ticketed for driving the wrong way on Iowa street, a one-way street at N. Main road, on Thursday.
